We first start with an exiftool to see if we can find some interesting in the metadata.

And that, we do:

Sooo... We can now already respond to all these questions:

- What is this users avatar of?
- What city is this person in?
- What is his personal email address?
- What site did you find his email address on?
- Where has he gone on holiday?

This leaves us with the 2 last trickier questions.

We will first do the one with the BSSID that we found on the twitter page:

So what we could use is wigle.net, and input the BSSID address in it:

Ok, only 1 question left, this one was a bit annoying to find but when searching in the source code of the webpage you can find a password:

```

<nav id="site-navigation" class="main-navigation" role="navigation">
  <ul id="primary-menu" class="menu"><li id="menu-item-6" class="menu-item menu
<li id="menu-item-7" class="menu-item menu-item-type-post_type menu-item-object-page menu-item-7"><a href="https://oliverwood
</ul>
  </nav><!-- .main-navigation -->

    <main id="main" class="site-main" role="main">

    <header class="page-header">
      <h1 class="page-title">Author: owoodflint</h1>
    </header><!-- .page-header -->

<article id="post-3" class="post-3 post type-post status-publish format-standard hentry category-uncategorised">
  <header class="entry-header">

Im in New York right now, so I will update this site right away with new photos!

pe[redacted]
  <!-- .entry-content -->

  <footer class="entry-footer">

        ow

        <a href="https://oliverwoodflint.wordpress.com/2019/03/03/the-journey-begins/#respond

```

And that is the response to the last question.
Quick and fun challenge!

I hope you enjoyed!
